

Tuberculosis in Movies

¹José Elías García Sánchez, ²Enrique García Merino, ¹María José Fresnadillo Martínez

¹Departamento de Medicina Preventiva, Salud Pública y Microbiología Médica. Facultad de Medicina. Universidad de Salamanca (Spain).

² Profesor en Ciclo Técnico en Farmacia y Parafarmacia. IES Giner de los Rios. Avda Real 35, 24006 Leon (Spain).

Correspondence: María José Fresnadillo Martínez. Facultad de Medicina. Avda. Alfonso X El Sabio s/n. 37007 Salamanca (Spain).

e-mail: jofrema@usal.es

To mark the centenary of the death of Robert Koch (27 May 2010), and given the fact that tuberculosis is still a hot topic as far as health issues are concerned, both in developed countries and in developing ones, last year the editorial committee of the Journal of Medicine and Movies decided to issue a monographic about tuberculosis in movies. The format of an alphabetically ordered index was chosen and its creation was entrusted to the editors of the journal. Problems soon arose due to the high number of films gathered, because of which an agreement to split it into two issues was reached.